

centerings

a well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed

